To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to strongly recommend Antonio Supan for any senior technical leadership position.

For context, I have experience in managing non-technical teams in multinational corporations (Booking.com), European enterprises (Bluesun Hotels, one of the largest hotel chains in Croatia), and international digital-first businesses such as Inchoo (eCommerce web development agency) and Mbanq (embedded finance provider for the USA market).

Antonio is the most competent software architect I've worked with across all these roles and industries.

Specifically, Antonio was the architect of Celegreety, the online platform for celebrity video shoutouts, first ever of its kind in Croatia. He single-handedly designed our entire end-to-end marketplace—from multi-category talent discovery (Music, TV & Film, Sports, Entertainment) to secure payment integration that protects both customers and talent.

His hands-on approach extended across the entire stack: database architecture, user authentication (Auth0 integration), payment gateway integration (Stripe), and complex video storage and delivery (Mux).

Any organization seeking a hands-on technical leader who can architect, build, ship, and scale ambitious products in tight alignment with business goals will find him a perfect fit.

Sincerely,

Antonio Gotovac
CEO, Celegreety
