

Letter of Recommendation

December, 2025

I had the opportunity to work closely with Antonio Supan during the development of the Vantage.hr website and several other similar projects my company has completed. It quickly became clear that Antonio is a highly skilled and dedicated professional. He brought exceptional technical expertise, thoughtful problem-solving, and consistent reliability to every phase of the project(s).

Antonio's depth of knowledge in web development and his ability to translate complex requirements into robust, efficient solutions were truly invaluable. He demonstrated strong ownership of tasks, communicated clearly, and was always proactive in proposing improvements that enhanced both performance and user experience.

What truly sets Antonio apart is his combination of technical excellence and collaborative mindset. He works with clarity and precision, while still being adaptable and open to feedback — qualities that made our collaboration smooth and productive. His passion for quality and innovation is evident in the work he delivers.

I confidently recommend Antonio for any advanced technical role. His commitment to excellence and capacity to drive results make him a tremendous asset to any team.

Best regards,
